U-Boat Skipper a Suicide—Kapitanleutnant Fritz Steinhoff, 35, commander of the German U-boat 873, which surrendered on May 16, and was brought to Portsmouth, N. H., today committed suicide in Charles Street Jail by slashing his wrists. Steinhoff broke his glasses to obtain a jagged piece of glass. He was removed from the jail to Massachusetts General Hospital, where he died.

Jap Human Rocket Blinds Sight

By JOHN HENRY

GUAM, May 19 (INS)—First description of Japan's new "flying coffin" in action was provided today by Lt. (j.g.) Andrew Chancellor of Pittsburgh, who said he was most impressed by the blinding speed of a Baka-bomb which attempted to attack his destroyer off Okinawa.

Declaring the attack by the fantastic sky weapon—a winged rocket projectile flown by a human pilot on a one-way ride—occurred in less time than it takes to tell about it, Chancellor said its destruction in the air was the result of "a lucky shot."

"It came in," the Navy communications officer related, "at the height of a sustained battle with Jap kamikaze (suicide) planes.

"We had splashed two of the Kamikaze boys, and we thought we had driven off a large twin-engine Jap plane flying with them. We were about to congratulate ourselves when that thing started at us like a streak of lightning."

The enemy bomber, Chancellor recalled, suddenly nosed up and turned away from ships his destroyer was screening, some 12,000 yards off. He said the plane flew as if it were trying to avoid fire from the destroyer.

"Then the bomber dropped what we first believed to be a belly tank, or maybe an ordinary bomb," he said, describing how the object which turned out to be the human-glided rocket was launched from the mother plane at an altitude of about 600 feet. As it streaked toward the destroyer, the rocket propellant gathered tremendous momentum.

"The range-finder operator yelled it was coming so fast he could not track it in," said Chancellor. "Machine gunners opened fire at it, and you could see their bullets bouncing off.

"Our five-inch mounts also were shooting—then there was a terrific explosion."

The Baka bomb, which Chancellor described as a silvery, twin-tailed missile, disintegrated with its son of heaven 50 feet off the side of the destroyer, its warhead tearing across the ship's fantail.

The gleaming flying casket for the Jap aviator had sustained a direct hit from one of the destroyer's five-inchers.

Chancellor estimated the projectile was traveling at 420 knots when the sharp shooting destroyer's gunners obtained their "lucky shot."

All hands aboard were admittedly surprised, inasmuch as it was the first of this type of weapon they had ever seen. The attack occurred April 12 at about 1:30 p. m.

Fight 30,000 Japs For Okinawa Hill

By JIM LINDSLEY

GUAM, May 19 (AP)—One of the most crucial battles of the Okinawa campaign is being fought for tunneled Sugar Loaf fortress, a 150-foot hill covering the eastern approaches to the island capital of Naha and to moated Shuri, central hinge of the fortified line defended by an estimated 30,000 Japs.

Japanese commanders are desperately throwing reserve troops into the struggle to hold the hill, even trying to move columns up in broad daylight with little chance to escape observation.

The 29th Regiment of the U. S. Sixth Marine Division is bearing the brunt of the battle for Sugar Loaf. The Marines clung to the northern slope of the hill which they finally seized in the ninth attack in seven days.

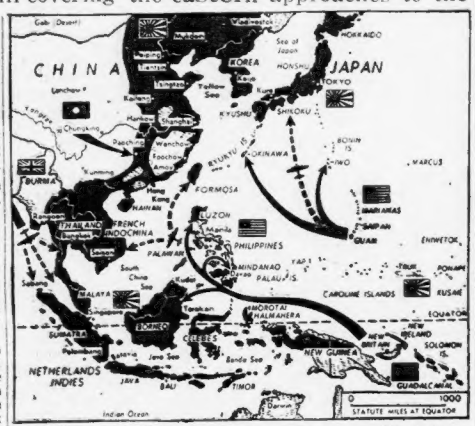
Japs still hold the southern slope and until it is cleared it apparently would be futile for the Marines to try to sweep through the empty ruins of Naha, through which increasing numbers of Yank patrols are prowling.

Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Sixth Marines Division commander, expressed the opinion Jap resistance may be broken on the present Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru fighting line because the Japs are sacrificing so many men and so much ammunition to hold Sugar Loaf and other key hills.

Adm. Nimitz's communique today gave no reports on operations yesterday. He issued a unique official account of bloody feats of such small units as G co., 383d Regiment, 96th Division, beating off counter-aetacking Japanese in an hour-long close-quarter grenade battle on Conical Hill.

These Japanese were led by an officer dressed formally, even to white gloves and polished dress boots. This gave evidence that some Japanese commanders realize their impending death and are preparing for a ceremonious exit.

Marines of Maj. Gen. Del Valle's First Division have killed several Japanese officers dressed in ceremonial white uniforms.



PACIFIC WAR AREA—Black arrows indicate main Allied drives now in progress against the Japanese as the Pacific war flames into new intensity. As American and Australian troops pound the island stepping stones to Japan, Chinese troops on the mainland of Asia are battering Nippon's forces in new and powerful offensives.

Japs Training Child Grenadiers

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19 (AP)—Japan was reported by radio Tokyo today to be training children to thrown hand grenades in defense of the empire.

Premier Kantaro Suzuki named a former army leader to the privy council and V. Adm. Ryozo Fukuda took command of the imperial fleet in China waters.

Tokyo said the children were becoming adept in grenade throwing and declared Okinawa children already had "died heroic deaths" charging into American positions. (No such instance has been reported in Okinawa dispatches to the U. S.)

Japs Flee Foochow, Coast Exodus Seen

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, May 19 (AP)—Chinese troops have completely reoccupied the strategic east coast port city of Foochow in an area where the Japs have feared American landings, the high command announced today.

There were indications the enemy already had withdrawn or was in the process of withdrawing around the port.

There were signs the Japs were slipping up the coast toward Shanghai in ships at night.

There also were indications the Japs at Wenchow, port in the Provence of Chekiang, 220 miles south of Shanghai, might follow the example of those at Foochow, and that those at Amoy and Swatow were preparing to withdraw southward to Hong Kong. All these ports are exposed to bombing from Philippine bases and are virtually cut off from Japan and Formosa.

Japanese garrisons, in each instance a few thousand at the most, have virtually no offensive capability against any American forces which might land on the China coast, and in defensive operations would face annihilation.

Some observers in Chungking foresaw a possibility of Japanese abandonment of southeast Asia in favor of positions north of the Yellow river.

U. S. 15th Army of 300,000 To Rule Vast German Area

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, May 19 (AP)—The U. S. 15th Army is ruling 14,000 square miles of Germany, including the rich Saar Basin, the Rhine valley and the western half of the industrial Ruhr, the first official announcement of the 15th's occupational role disclosed today.

According to the best available estimates, from 300,000 to 400,000 U. S. troops will comprise the final American occupying force. This means the 15th Army, now including two corps, will be strengthened by numerous additional units or augmented by another army.

Under command of Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, the 15th Army will control an area about eight times as large as that supervised by American occupation troops after the first World War.

Major cities in the 15th's area include Duesseldorf, Aachen, Cologne, Trier and Coblenz.

Officials stressed the 15th's present role was not necessarily its future role.

Redeployment of troops now attached to the 15th Army is not affected. Troops under Gerow found eligible for discharge or transfer to the Pacific will be replaced by others.

The announcement provided the first official news of the 15th's activities since it held the west bank of the Rhine during liquidation of the Ruhr pocket.

Units of the 15th recently conducted a siege of surrounded German garrisons in the St. Nazaire and Lorient areas.

Presently attached to Gerow's army are the 22d Corps, Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, and the 23d, Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Gaffey.

Divisions that can be identified are the 94th, 28th and 66th Infantry, and the Seventh Airborne.

Tito Defiance of Allies Brings Crisis Over Trieste

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, May 19 (AP)—Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander charged today Marshal Tito apparently sought to establish claims to areas in northeast Italy and southern Austria by force "all too reminiscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan."

Six hours later a Belgrade broadcast quoting the Yugoslav leader declared "the honor of our army and the honor of our country demand the presence of the Yugslaov army in Istria, Trieste and the Slovene coastline."

The presence of Yugoslav troops in these areas does not "prejudice the decisions of the peace conference as to whom these territories belong," the broadcast added, quoting what it said was Tito's reply to notes sent him by the United States and Britain.

Alexander, Allied commander in the Mediterranean, asserted in a message to his troops that "it is our duty to hold these disputed territories as trustees until their ultimate disposal is settled at the peace conference," and said he had been unable to "come to a friendly agreement" on the occupation with Tito.

His statement emphasized that "we have no objection to the claims being put forward by Marshal Tito to the territory," but that such claims should be settled at the peace conference and not by "force of arms and military occupation" by the Yugoslavs.

Alexander said Tito previously had agreed to Allied occupation of the disputed areas, including Trieste, but that on May 8 Tito said the situation had changed and the problem now was political and not military.

The Belgrade broadcast declared: "The Yugoslav army, as one of the Allied armies, has equal rights with other Allied armies to remain in the territory she has liberated in the bitter struggle against the common enemy.

"The needs of our Allies concerning ports and lines of communications have been completely safeguarded in the spirit of talks between Marshal Tito and Field Marshal Alexander during visits by Field Marshal Alexander to Belgrade this winter."

In London, it was learned Tito's reply to the British note had been received, but whether its text was the same as the Belgrade broadcast was not disclosed Reliable sorces there said Tito's reply did not solve the difficulties, and that a further exchange of views was necessary.

300 B-29s Rip Another Big Jap War Plant City

GUAM, May 19 (INS)—More than 300 fighter-escorted American Superfortresses smashed at the industrial city of Hamamatsu, 60 miles southeast of Nagoya, today, unleashing tons of high explosives on the urban manufacturing area. It was the largest force of planes ever to hit the city.

(From Washington 20th Air Force headquarters announced a "very large force" of Marianas-based B-29s dropped explosives on industrial targets "in the western outskirts" of Tokyo today.)

Use of fighter escorts was seen as a move to combat possible enemy interceptor strength based on four airfields surrounding Hamamatsu. The city is also a vital military center.

Superforts bombed from medium altitude. A heavy overcast, however, necessitated use of precision instruments rather than visual means. Results were unobserved.

Hamamatsu, with a population of 166,000, was a prewar textile center but was converted to production of aircraft propellors and other war materials. It has important railway shops.

The Superforts suddenly switched their target from Nagoya which was hit by two record forces of B-29s Monday and Wednesday. Official reports declared that 5.9 square miles of Nagoya's industrial heart, including two of the large Mitsubishi aircraft plants, were laid waste.

Gen. Ike to O.K. Nazi Beheadings

NEW YORK, May 19 (INS)—German civilians condemned to death, after approval by Gen. Eisenhower, will be shipped to German prisons where executions by beheading will take place, BBC, heard by NBC, said today.

Sub Mystery Nazis Landed

By ROBERT L. GREEN

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 19—Under the bristling guns of naval vessels and with a tripled, heavily-armed marine guard ashore to enforce secrecy, the giant Nazi U-234 arrived today with high Luftwaffe officers and a top-ranking Nazi official among her mystery-shrouded passengers.

Under the Navy-imposed lid of secrecy on the arrival of the 1600-ton surrendered U-boat, reportedly crammed with plans, designs and models of German war weapons, completed or in the process of development, newspapermen and spectators were held back by stern restriction from too close a glimpse of the submarine's crew and passengers.

No trace was found aboard the surrendered submarine of the two Japanese, who were reported by the Navy to have committed harakiri when the vessel surrendered. The Navy announced it was presumed they had been buried at sea.

It was learned, however, that the Japanese became involved in an argument with the U-boat skipper when he announced his intention of surrendering and that the bickering continued for two days before the sub contacted American vessels, whereupon the pair took their own lives.

First to step from the Coast Guard vessel, which bore the submarine's complement to the shore was a short, paunchy civilian, his jaw hanging slackly and a frightened look on his florid, flabby face.

Crammed under one arm was a bulky, brief case while he carried a handbag in his other hand. He was wearing a gabardine-type topcoat and a dirty, crumpled brown felt hat. But for the lack of the toothbrush mustache, it might have been Hitler himself was the thought of a crowd as necks were craned for a glimpse.

Behind him was a sailor, struggling with a huge suitcase, and he was followed by six immaculately uniformed naval officers, who may or may not have been part of the U-boat's crew.

Next in the line of those debarking was a Luftwaffe officer, apparently of a general's rank and he was followed by Maj. Gen. Ulrich Kessler, who headed the Luftwaffe blitz on Poland in 1939.

Symbolic of Nazi arrogance, Gen. Kessler strutted pompously ashore, glancing coldly from side to side.

He was wearing polished black

Arrogant U-Boat Captain Kills Self in Boston Jail

Fritz Steinhoff, burly commander of the Nazi submarine U-873, which surrendered at Portsmouth, N. H., Wednesday, hurled his eyeglasses to the floor of his Charles st. jail cell this morning, seized a jagged fragment of lens and killed himself by slashing his wrist.

The 35-year-old kapitanleutnant was discovered lying on the cell floor by a military guard. A German prisoner of war, who is a physician, was assigned to give him first aid, then an Army surgeon tried to save the six-foot Nazi's life, but it appeared so futile he was rushed to Massachusetts General Hospital nearby. He was dead on arrival.

The blond, blue-eyed, arrogant disciple of Hitler and the Nazi party credo had been unable to stand the humiliation of imprisonment in a victorious democracy. He had followed the new "party line, enunciated yesterday by Dr. Robert Ley, former head of the Nazi labor front.

Ley told his American captors in Germany:

"Life has no more meaning for me. I knew that after Hitler there would be chaos. You can do away with me. Shoot me right now? I don't care."

Kapitanleutnant Steinhoff was careful to dress before he ended his life. He made his decision final shortly before the jail breakfast hour. He was alone in his cell. He had expressed a desire to have no cellmates. The moment the military guard passed beyond sight the U-boat commander, who had so dauntlessly driven torpedoes into merchant ships, took the coward's way out.

He had adopted an attitude of icy and determined silence when he was removed from his submarine and taken to the Portsmouth Navy Yard cell block.

But even the first hours of his imprisonment proved unbearable. He announced he had two uncles in Detroit. He demanded he be allowed to establish contact with them. He was the kapitanleutnant now, almost as though he were back, boss of his undersea raider.

He was given a flat "no" on the matter of contacting his uncles.

Steinhoff went into a tantrum. He roared and postured. Then his captors were given to understand he needed especially considerate treatment because he had heart trouble.

The Navy was willing to do something for him if that were the case. He was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital for an examination, then removed to the Charles st. jail while military authorities awaited a report on his heart condition.

He went back to Massachusetts General this morning a corpse, not because of heart trouble but because he didn't have the courage to live and face the responsibilities of a defeated naval commander.

Steinhoff had been commander of the U-873 since it was commissioned at Bremen, Germany, July 3, 1944. When it put into Portsmouth it was found to be heavily stocked with such luxuries of life as cognac and champagne.

The kapitanleutnant refused to be interviewed by newspapermen, although some members of his crew were not so reticent. They appeared to be unanimous in believing Hitler had been a great man, the Nazi party the greatest of political organizations and Germany the most noble of countries.

In any event Kapitanleutnant Steinhoff wanted to be with Hitler again and he took the coward's route, a Germanic version of the Japanese hara-kiri.

RICHARD SINCLAIR, MRS. KENNETH SINCLAIR

1st Legless Vet Given License To Operate Car

By PAULINE WARREN

Richard Sinclair, 20, of Neilson ave., Everett, is the first legless veteran of this war to be given a driving license in Massachusetts.

He's also the hero of one of the most poignant tales of this war.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sinclair, he has just been given a medical discharge. He's prouder of the fact that he can master his new legs well enough to get that license than he is of the many ribbons adorning his jacket.

A PFC with the 36th "Texas" division, Dick made the first landings on the soil of Italy with his buddy, Anthony Ciavarella of Detroit.

Fate threw the boys together then and they have been together since. They fought on the Anzio beachhead together, and shared a foxhole last June after they had fought up through Rome and were near Florence, when a mortar shell took off both legs of both of them.

They recovered consciousness together in a hospital in Naples, crossed the Atlantic in the same plane and were placed in adjoining beds at Percy Jones Hospital in Michigan. They learned to walk again together.

When Tony was married in Detroit recently, Dick was his best man.

Dick, who is six feet tall and darkly handsome, manages nicely with the help of a cane he hopes to discard soon. He is planning to study piano. But, he's going to enter a business school to learn shorthand and typing just in case the music fails.

Sunday Sunny, So Noyes RapsWood

Knocking on wood and crossing his fingers tightly, G. Harold Noyes weather bureau meteorologist, today announced:

"Sunday will be bright and SUNNY with warmer temperatures in the afternoon."

Noyes used the superstitious precautions with plenty of reason. He said 25 of the past 28 days have been rainy and there have been no clear days this month. The total sunshine for May has been only 75 hours, the lowest since 1892.

Japs Deny Bid, Say Tokyo Burns

(Enemy report)

LONDON, May 19 (INS)—The Jap radio denied today there had been any Japanese peace feelers and added "Tokyo is burned down" and "so is Nagoya."

The Jap broadcast heard in London declared "the people of these cities who were rendered homeless have been embraced into the fold of Japan's stout family system and have quickly returned to their battle lines on the home front.

"It is now that Japan must put forth her real strength to fight it out. Nothing is farther from its mind and heart than a peace with the enemy."

Huge Art Loot Indicts Quisling

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Norwegian authorities catalogued as evidence today an immense fortune in stolen art treasures found in the mansion formerly occupied by Vidkun Quisling, who, they said, would be summoned for a preliminary hearing, probably on treason charges, within a week.

The search for Heinrich Himmler continued, according to a dispatch from Hamburg quoting a British security police official. The Gestapo chieftain's whereabouts had been established in the Hamburg area two days ago, but a patrol sent to get him failed in its mission, the officer related.

Czechoslovakia added Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, to its list of more than 500 war criminals.

Mrs. Roosevelt Car Crash Kills Four

MONTGOMERY, N. Y., May 19 (AP) — Four persons were killed today when a convertible coupe owned by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt crashed into the rear of a parked truck near here.

Three of the victims were women. The fourth was a soldier from nearby Stewart Field. All were Negroes. Dutchess County Sheriff Fred Close said he had issued a warrant charging a Roosevelt estate chauffeur with grand larceny in the alleged theft of the car.

Yakovlev said some of the new planes were ready for mass production.

Truman to Give Honor Medal to Hero

WASHINGTON, May 19 (INS)—The White House said today President Truman would appear before a joint session of Congress Monday to present the 100th Congressional Medal of Honor won in this war by an infantryman. He will make a short address which will be broadcast nationally.

Stalin Firm on 16 Pole Arrests

By EDWARD J. DENNEHY

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Premier Stalin let the world know today he will not consider the disputed arrest of 16 Poles in negotiations for the reorganization of the Warsaw government ordered at Yalta.

"The arrest of the Poles," Stalin said, "has no connection with the question of reconstruction of the Polish provisional government."

These arrests have raised protests in the British House of Commons and in the United States.

Stalin laid down three "elementary" conditions for solution of the Polish question, the first recognition of the present Warsaw government as the basic core of a national unity government. At Yalta President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill pledged recognition of the Warsaw regime as soon as it was organized on a broader basis.

The Russian leader broke his silence on the Polish issue as reports were heard here that arrangements were being pressed for a meeting of the Big Three. His statements were contained in a reply broadcast by the Moscow radio to a letter written by Ralph Parker, Moscow correspondent for the London Times.

The complete text of Stalin's letter:

"I have somewhat delayed my answer, but this is understandable if one keeps in mind how busy I am.

"1—The arrest of the 16 Poles in Poland, with the well-known diversionist, Gen. Okulicski, at their head, has no connection with the question of reconstruction of the Polish provisional government. These gentlemen were arrested in accordance with a law similar to the British Defense of the Realm Act. The arrest was carried out by Soviet military authorities in accordance with an agreement concluded between the Polish provisional government and the Soviet military command.

"2—It is untrue that the arrested Poles were invited for negotiations with the Soviet authorities. The Soviet authorities do not and will not conduct negotiations with those who break the law on the protection of the Red army rear.

"3—As far as the question of the reorganization of the Polish provisional government itself is concerned, it can only be solved on the basis of the Crimea decisions because no deviations from these decisions can be permitted.

"I think the Polish question can be solved by agreement between the Allies only if the following elementary conditions are observed:

"A—If in the reconstruction of the Polish provisional government the latter is recognized as the basic core of the future Polish government of national unity, similar to the case of Yugoslavia, where the National Liberation Committee was recognized as the main core of the united Yugoslav government.

"B—If as a result of the reconstruction a government is created in Poland which will pursue a policy of friendship with the Soviet Union and not the policy of the 'cordon sanitaire' against the Soviet Union.

"C—If the question of the reconstruction of the Polish government is resolved together with the Poles who at present have ties with the Polish people, and not without them. Yours respectfully, Stalin."

Mrs. Roosevelt Says No to Mayor Bid

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—The New York Daily Mirror said today that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt had been approached by Democratic leaders and asked whether she would accept nomination as candidate for mayor of New York. Her answer was "no," the Mirror said.

Russian Soldiers Expect Jap War

By KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, May 19 (INS)—Russia's entry into the Pacific war seems to be taken for granted by Soviet army officers.

The Russian army appears fully prepared for war with Japan.

Asked whether Russia was likely to enter the Pacific war, Russian officers say yes without a moment's hesitation.

Bidding farewell to correspondents in Berlin, one Soviet captain said "I'll see you in Manchuria."

During a recent meeting between U. S. correspondents and high-ranking Russian officers east of the Mulde river, one Soviet leader remarked:

"Now that Germany has been defeated, we soon will be joining you in the defeat of that other Fascist state in the Far East."

Public opinion in Russia apparently is fully prepared for war with Japan in the event Marshal Stalin orders it.

Nazi Education Head Arrested

NEW YORK, May 19—Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, who directed the education of Germany in Nazi precepts, has been arrested by the Allies and placed in jail, the BBC said today in a broadcast heard by NBC.

He was repofted found yesterday in a hospital at Flensburg.

A member of Hitler's "old guard," Rosenburg became the ideological leader of the Reich in 1934. He also had headed the Nazi party's foreign political office and had served as minister of civil administration in what formerly constituted eastern occupied German regions.

Roxbury GI Recovers From Fourth Wound

Cpl. James Walsh of McGreevy way, Roxbury, wounded for the fourth time Feb. 28, is nearing recovery in an Army hospital in England and will soon be homeward bound, his wife was notified today.

Walsh, father of two children, served in Europe with the Second Armored Division. He holds the Purple Heart with three clusters, the Bronze Star and the Silver Star.

FLU VICTIM—Stricken ill with the flu on the eve of beginning a new picture, Alexis Smith, Hollywood screen actress, is recovering today but was forced to resign the part to prevent a delay in production.

Husband Held in Auto Slaying

CHICOPEE, May 19 — Peter Polchlopek, 40, of McKinley ave., today was charged with the murder of his wife, Sadie, 40, found fatally wounded in her parked car in East Main st. last Wednesday.

Arraigned before Judge Napoleon Vigeant in Chicopee court, Polchlopek pleaded not guilty and was held without bail for hearing May 23.

Judge Vigeant granted Polchlopek permission to go to his wife's funeral "provided you behave yourself." He was accompanied to requiem mass in St. Stanislaus Church by five detectives and, later, to St. Stanislaus Cemetery.

According to Police Lt. Frank Kavaney, who discovered Mrs. Polchlopek's body, she and Polchlopek had quarreled over his alleged friendship with a woman employed in the Moore Drop Forging Co., Chicopee, where he was a floor inspector.

Kaveney said Polchlopek borrowed another employe's car the day his wife was slain and was absent from his work about an hour. Kavaney claimed police had evidence that Polchlopek recently purchased a .38 calibre automatic.

The Polchlopeks were married 17 years. Besides her husband she leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Zyblot of Bondsville.

Parley Waits Russian Views To Break Jam

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19 (AP)—The United States delegation is hoping fervently for word from Moscow this week-end that may clear the way for United Nations approval of regional defense plans and break a conference jam on other critical issues.

For the moment the Russians, and small nations unsure of the course the Russians may pursue, have the world security conference tied in a knot so far as important decisions are concerned.

In addition there is an undercurrent of small nation revolt against what some are terming big-power control of present and future United Nations machinery.

A whole series of developments spotlighted the new crisis as delegates headed for their first public session in more than a week to hear a formal report from committees planning a new world court. These developments included:

1—Francisco Aguirre of Cuba, in a closed committee meeting, accused the big powers of wanting to create a "collective dictatorship" of the world, other delegates reported.

2—A group of Latin American leaders banded together to stall action on major conference issues until Russia has clarified her position on regional defense treaties.

3—The U. S. delegation decided not to try to force the issue on regional defense without giving Russia a few more days to answer.

4—The possibility arose that unless some of the small nations get certain key ideas accepted by the conference, they may eventually impose reservations in accepting the United Nations charter.

5—Blunt-spoken Manuel Gallagher, Peru's foreign minister, told a news conference there was no point in the small nations trying to force compulsory jurisdiction for a world court if great nations consider that against their interests. The only convincing votes in such a case, he said, would be those backed by a fleet and an army.

Manila Ipo Dam Captured Intact

MANILA, May 19 (AP)—Mysteriously undamaged by the Japanese, the Ipo dam—source of one-third of Manila's water—was captured by Filipino guerrillas and U. S. 43d Division infantrymen.

Several thousand Nipponese are trapped east of the city.

To the south the U. S. 38th Division moved toward the Wawa dam, another source of Manila's water, by capturing high ground 3500 yards northwest of Mount Batangan.

On Mindanao the U. S. 31st Division captured Valencia and two all-weather grass airstrips.

The 40th Infantry Division, aided by units of the Americal Division, drove south along the highway toward a junction with the 31st.

Two Youths Believed Hurt in Store Break

Brighton police today were seeking two youths believed to have been injured during a break at the store of Solomon Koffman in Chestnut Hill ave., Brighton, early today.

A patrolman noticed glass in the front door of the store was broken, with a trail of blood leading to the rear of the store, where a cash register containing $40 intact had been abandoned. Koffman reported that another register in the store had been robbed of $10.

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Fuel oil rations have been granted again this summer for cooking stoves and hot water heaters even though householders may have stand-by wood or coal burning units.

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—A minesweeper operating off the English coast disappeared May 8 after a heavy underwater explosion at 11:59 p. m.—one minute before the war in Europe ended.

BLOT ON 'SCUTCHEON

COPENHAGEN, May 19 (AP)—Five thousand illegitimate children of German fathers were born in Denmark during the five-year occupation, officials said today.

FRANKLIN SURVIVOR HOME IN QUINCY—Watertender 2c Mike Oates is home today with his wife, Grace, and his four-month-old daughter, Diana, whom he is seeing for the first time. Oates of Buckley st., West Quincy, is a survivor of the bombing of the aircraft carrier Franklin and a member of the 704 Club, comprised of the members of the crew who sailed the battered vessel from the Jap coast back to Brooklyn.

Market District Goes Ghost Town in Famine

By ALICE BISSELL

The market district today looked like a fair ground after the carnival has gone. Up and down North st., all the meat stores were boarded up except for the horse-meat shop, where a few weary people got their Sunday roasts.

"Hear some poultry poetry," said one clerk at Blackstone st., as he sold his last bit of bologna and closed up for the day. "No poultry today, I'm going away," he sang.

At Quincy market and throughout Faneuil Hall area, meat was sold to a few regular customers, and after the spiced ham and hotdogs were gone, clerks closed their shops. One said he would have to go out of business if the shortage continued much longer.

Anxious customers peered in a Blackstone st. market and found only a cat snoozing on the empty counter.

"No Meat," "No Poultry," "No Eggs," signs read, and not many prospective customers to read them either.

"I even miss the customers fighting for nothing," said one clerk. "It's completely forlorn."

This was typical of the scene in markets in Greater Boston and in the suburbs today. People waited in line for hours to storm the few shops that had chickens.

Skipper Hails Priest, Angels on Franklin

By JAMES J. DELANEY

Capt. Leslie E. Gehres, hero commander of the aircraft carrier Franklin, said today "there were angels on our shoulders; angels and prayers must have brought some of us through safely."

The commander is relaxing for the weekend at the home in Fairhaven of his sister, Mrs. John H. Seaman of Lafayette st., but he said he hoped he wouldn't be in the States very long.

"A month on this side is plenty when there's a war on," he said.

With him is his wife, Mrs. Rhoda Cooley Gehres, who happened to be visiting in New York from their home in California when the commander arrived in this country.

"Nobody fights a fire thinking of good things to say," said Gehres, "and I want to thank the press for making such a good picture of me."

He said the Navy had given orders not to discuss the accident other than its releases, but he said he would never tire of telling the story of Father O'Callahan.

Lt. Com. Joseph Timothy O'Callahan, USNR, the 40-year-old Jesuit priest of Leonard ave., Cambridge, who had been chaplain of the Franklin only 17 days when she was hit, and through the three days of fighting fire, never stopped helping the wounded and the dying.

"I have seen many brave men, but never a man so brave in the face of death," he said.

Letters poured to the skipper from wives, mothers, and sweethearts of his crew, and the captain was answering all of them.

"The letters wring my heart. Broken-hearted, broken-up people, being so brave," he said.

Mrs. Charles H. Carr of Laurel st., Fairhaven, called on the captain today to talk about her son, Lt. Charles H. Carr, a flier rescued from the Franklin.

"This is an honor, captain," said Mrs. Carr.

"I can't get used to that kind of stuff," he laughed.

"I hope your next trip is not so exciting," she said.

"You can say that again!" he exclaimed.

Capt. Genres, who is meeting Eddie Rickenbacker for a visit tomorrow in New York, said Jap fliers are not as good as they used to be, and not so plentiful.

"They are brave, but not skillful. Our fliers are full of beans. They are smarter to start with and can fly rings around the Japs," he said.

"The main thing on my mind is still O'Callahan. We all called him 'Padre' as a term of affection, not because he was a priest. He's a South Boston fighting Irishman who just happened to be a priest, and he's the most important part of the story of the Franklin."

Jamaica Plain Girl Wins Oratory Contest

Patricia O'Donnell, 12, daughter of Mrs. Margaret O'Donnell of Hampstead rd., Jamaica Plain, today was announced as winner of the CYO junior oratorical contest held in Dorchester. She is a member of the graduating class of St. Thomas Aquinas Grammar School, Jamaica Plain, and was coached by Rev. Lawrence M. Ryan of that parish.

Bank Employe Juggles, But Wins

NEW YORK, May 19 (INS)—An employe of the bank of Athens Trust Co., who juggled a few accounts to finance his stock market speculations, provided Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey and bank officials with a headache when it was disclosed that his market plunges netted $12,696.

The bank asked that the employe, John Baumgartner, 43, be given the "most lenient treatment possible" after he pleaded guilty to violating the banking act by circumventing bank rules prohibiting officers from obtaining loans.

The bank pointed out it was not out any money. But it also raised the question of who is to get the $12,696 profit.

Volunteers Aid 7th Loan Drive

Formation of a committee of "Volunteers Out of Uniform" to visit war plants, arrange for rallies and generally stimulate the sale of bonds in the 7th War Loan drive, was announced today by the Massachusetts War Finance Committee.

Sales of war bonds thus far to individuals in the Bay State have mounted to $48,300,000, or 20.3 per cent of the quota, while the sale of "E" bonds has reached $32,800,000, or 23.4 per cent of the $140,000,000 quota.

The committee urged the public to remember that more than one extra bond purchase by each citizen in the state will be necessary in this campaign, because the quota for individual purchases is $238,000,000 as compared with the 6th War Loan quota of $173,000,000.

Outpost Battalion, a group of office workers and sales girls, will hold a dance Monday night on the U. S. Maritime Service training ship American Navigator, tied up at Central Wharf. Admission will be by purchase of a $100 war bond.

Highlighting the entertainment will be selection of "Pin-up Girl of the American Navigator."

Suspect Breaks Tryst With Cops

Johnnie Boyle, 40-year-old Roxbury man sought for 3½ years in connection with the 1941 gangland shooting of Joseph T. "Harpo" Mahoney, today failed to keep a rendezvous with Boston police at which he was expected to surrender.

Police waited more than two hours in a downtown hotel, which had been decided upon as the meeting place, before giving up hope.

A Boston attorney, who said he represented Boyle, made the appointment last night. He said Boyle was willing to surrender on the police warrant charging him with murder.

Mahoney was shot in Southampton st., Roxbury, Dec. 21, when he kept an appointment with an unidentified man.

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—Arthur Brisbane, Hearst newspaper executive and editorialist who died Dec. 25, 1936, left gross assets in New York state of $3,142,133, and a net estate of $266,042, a state tax appraisal showed today.

The Dirty Rat!

MILFORD, N. J., May 18 (AP)—A mouse was to blame for a walkout of 200 employes at the Milford plant of the Riegel Paper Corp., Supt. George L. Bidwell, Jr., said today.

Bidwell said a worker in the finishing department had been watching the mouse Thursday and neglected his machine, causing damage to equipment.

A four-day penalty layoff, ending Monday, was imposed on the mouse-watcher, he said, and 200 employes in several departments walked out in sympathy.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Recently you mentioned in your column quite a few different types of schools at which the Veterans Administraton pays the tuition fees. I would like to know if a discharged veteran could enroll in a recognized school of music under the Public Law 16 or the GI Bill? P. D., Portsmouth, Navy Yard.

A—A disabled veteran eligible to attend school under the vocational training plan may select a music school if approved by the Veterans Administration and Collegiate Board. Under the GI Bill, if your training was interrupted and you were under 25 years of age at the time of enlistment, the answer would be yes. If over the 25-year limit, you may receive one-year refresher course.

Q—I understand veterans are issued discharged buttons when separating from the service. I received only a yellow emblem. Where do I write for information regarding obtaining the blue one? I also understand veterans being discharged are issued two shoe ration coupons. Does this apply to vets already discharged? C. M. D., Newburyport.

A—The honorable discharge button is the yellow emblem. There are no blue discharge buttons. You might be thinking of the American Legion blue emblem. Regarding shoe stamps, a discharged veteran applies to his local ration board for ration books which include shoe stamps. If you have not received yours, suggest you contact local ration board.

Q—I would like to know how many points my son would have to his credit. He has been in the service 20 months and overseas six months, completing a total of 35 missions. Promoted from Cpl. to S-Sgt. while overseas. C. A. B., West Roxbury.

A—In order to give you a correct total, it will be necessary to know more details, such as combat decorations received and if he has any children.

Q—What is the pay of a signalman 3c in service five years and now overseas? E. H., Wollaston.

A—Base pay $114, plus 5 per cent longevity and 20 per cent base pay for overseas duty; total $142.50 per month.

Q—What happens to the mail of a soldier who has been killed in action, if the sender fails to include a return address? Miss J. T., Dorchester.

A—Goes to dead letter office.

Q—I am on my way out of the Marine Corps with a medical discharge. Would like to know how I would go about getting into the Maine Forest Rangers, and whom would I contact? Sgt. W. E. N., Chelsea Naval.

A—That branch comes under the Maine Forest Service, with headquarters in State House, Augusta, Me.

Q—We have not heard from a relative in the Navy for several months. To whom could I write for his latest address? A. F., Dorchester.

A—If he is a member of your family, you may write Chief, Navy Bureau of Personnel, Washington, D. C. If not an immediate relative such information will not be divulged.

Q—Could 12 points be considered in the following case: Soldier has a child by first wife, but is not contributing toward support of that child. Has another child by second marriage which he included in family allotment. W. R. S., Concord.

A—Army states that only 12 points for second child can be awarded him under parenthood credit.

Q—I am suffering from a rare lung disease. My husband is deferred until June. Because of my illness, do you think he will be drafted? G. M., Boston.

A—I wish I could answer that question, but I am afraid your husband's draft board is the only party that holds the answer. Possibility he may get additional lease of civilian life if conditions warrant.

Q—My son is with the 1st Div. Marines. About three months ago he had some sort of an accident and was shipped to a base hospital in the Marianas. Thus far I have not been notified by the War Dept. regarding his injury. Is he also entitled to the Purple Heart? E. M. F., Weymouth.

A—It would be the Navy Dept. that would notify you if son was wounded in action or condition was serious. If injury was due to enemy action which resulted in son receiving medical treatment, he would be eligible for Purple Heart. If accident was not caused from such action, there would be no basis for Purple Heart.

U-Boat

boots, a clean uniform greatcoat with fancy epaulets and his officer's cap was set at a rakish angle as he stamped down the gangway.

Following him came the crew, nondescript, many wearing beards and long hair and with dirty uniforms.

Just before the sub's passengers left the Coast Guard vessel for the shore the U-boat skipper, Kapitanleutnant Johann Heinrich Fehler, 35, of Gluckstadt, near Hamburg, approached the cutter's skipper, Lt. Charles Winslow of West Southford, Me.

"I wish to make a complaint," he said coldly, through an interpreter. "You treated us like gangsters."

"That's what you are," snapped Lt. Winslow, "Now get to hell off this ship."

Fehler, looking as though he had been hit between the eyes, turned and stalked off the ship.

Mystery continued to surround the sub's passenger list after they were hustled ashore. It was learned that in addition to high naval officers from Washington, an Air Force Intelligence officer had flown here.

Bundled aboard the plane for Washington were Gen. Kessler and the other Luftwaffe officer, a naval commander and four lieutenants and three civilians who had been passengers aboard the sub. The others of the U-boat's complement were taken to Boston.

Indication of the importance of the prisoners was the Navy announcement they would be flown directly to Washington after being landed here from the submarine.

Arrangements were made with the Naval Air Base at Sanford, Me., for a large plane and pilot to transport them by air to the nation's capital. The original plan was for the prisoners to board the ship at an emergency landing field at Portsmouth but because of weather conditions, they will be taken to Sanford instead and will fly from there.

Under the trained guns of three destroyer escorts, instead of the one vessel which has accompanied other surrendered submarines, the U-234 arrived at the rendezvous with Navy Yard vessels beyond the Isle of Shoals shortly after 8 a. m. today.

Com. T. Kincaid Kimmel and a submarine group went aboard and relieved the prize crew which had brought her in from the surrender point 500 miles east of Cape Race, N. F.

She was nosed into an anchorage off Kittery Point, just below the Revolutionary Ft. McClary, and the slow transfer of her crew and passengers to Navy tugs was Himmler and Von Ribbentrop has been a matter of worldwide speculation for weeks.

The whereabouts of both variously reported in northern Germany and Denmark prior to the complete collapse of Nazi resistance last week.

But there had been little word for weeks of the suave champagne salesman who rose to unparalleled power as the Nazi regime's foreign minister. The last known of Von Ribbentrop was that he was reported by the German radio to be at Hitler's side with Propaganda Minister Goebbels in the last desperate days in Berlin.

The fate of Hitler himself still is cloaked in mystery, despite protestations of Nazi underlings that he sought out death willingly in Berlin

'I Am an American' Hub Fete Tomorrow

All arrangements were completed today for one of Boston's greatest demonstrations of patriotism tomorrow when the city joins the nation in observance of "I Am An American Day," with impressive exercises at the Hatch Shell on the Charles River Esplanade.

Gov. Tobin and Mayor Kerrigan will speak on the program sponsored by the city bureau of Americanization.

Representatives of all branches of the armed forces and their auxiliaries, returned war heroes, civic and veteran organizations, and more than 100 school children, who will present a pageant, will take part in the program.

The exercises will begin at 2:15 p. m., when four leading religious choral groups will present a festival of church music. They are the Holy Name choir of West Roxbury, St. Paul's Cathedral adult choir, the Lion choral group and the Concord Baptist Church choral group.

Invocation will be delivered by Rev. Thomas A. Reynolds, prayer by Rabbi Lewittes and benediction by Rev. Arthur S. Payzant.

During a special presentation ceremony, SPAR Helen Gregory, American-born girl who organized the women of Poland into an underground band of sharpshooters before she returned to this country to join the Coast Guard, will be honored.

In a joint observance of the day, Mattapan Post No. 128, American Legion, and Boston Post No. 22, Jewish War Veterans of the United States, will conduct special exercises at Temple Beth Hillel in Morton st., Mattapan, at 8 p. m. Principal speakers will be Rev. Patrick J. Lydon, national chaplain of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Rabbi Mordecai Bressler of the temple.

Wait for Warm Weather To Plant Tender Crops

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head of Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and director of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser garden on Boston Common.)

It is undesirable to plant tomatoes, peppers and other tender crops in the garden while the cool, wet weather continues. It will do better to wait until the weather clears before going ahead. V-gardeners need not worry, as there is still plenty of time.

Holding these plants in flats or frames may, however, cause some stretching, with the result that tomato plants may be 12 to 15 inches high. If you use tall plants, they will come better by setting the plants deep.

Set the tall plants in a shallow trench, leaving about 8 or 9 inches above the ground. In this way the part of the stem that is buried will root, giving the plant a better root system, and there will be less danger of the tall plant breaking from the wind.

If you are growing your own plants, hold them back by giving them more space and allowing for good ventilation in the frames. Give them as much fresh air as possible during the day.

If you are buying plants, it is wise to select the smaller plants. A good, stocky tomato plant, 8-9 inches, that has been well grown, will give better results than the tall leggy plants that have been held in shallow flats for the last two or three weeks.

The question now arises as to the advisability of putting salt on the asparagus bed. This is an old practice brought in by English gardeners. It does not have any value unless it helps to control some weeds.

Doctor Attack Trial Nears Jury's Hands

Defense arguments in the trial of Dr. Thomas J. Moore of Dorchester, charged with criminal assault on a woman patient, will begin Monday in Suffolk Superior Court and the case is expected to be given to the jury later in the day.

Just before evidence was completed, a defense character witness, James H. Charlton, 62, of Butler st., Dorchester, collapsed and died in a corridor outside the courtroom.

Webster says:—"Alarm—A call to arms for defense".

A Bell that rings for Liberty... Every Morning

Millions of alarms have rung since our people were forced by war to clench their friendly hands into hard-hitting fists. Some of the hands were dainty and beautifully manicured . . . some were wrinkled and tired . . . but, all proved equal to the biggest job that ever faced this or any other land.

Our nation has shown that it can produce the sinews of war on a scale never believed possible before. New found energy, ingenuity and skills have given our people self-reliance. They are determined to apply themselves to the task ahead until final victory is won.

Surely, the seasoned veteran and self-disciplined civilian, working together, will master whatever problems peacetime may present. The future for America and for all of us can be as bright as we wish to make it.

People who get results agree that there is no substitute for hard work and also that recreation and relaxation are essential to accomplishment. In your well-earned leisure, select a beverage of moderation. A tall, stately glass of Budweiser is a standing invitation to make your moments of relaxation complete.

Nation Marks 'I Am An American' Day

THERE IS a day observed each year in the United States for public recognition of "the special significance of citizenship in this nation," as the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt once defined its purpose.

It is called "I Am an American" Day, and the occasion for its observance is fixed by an act of Congress as the third Sunday in May.

Accordingly, the American people are now conducting the observance, and with particular appreciation of its purpose.

The origin of the observance is an interesting and inspiring story.

In the spring of 1939, there occurred a public event in the county of Manitowoc in Wisconsin which was called "Citizenship Day."

All the young men and women of the county who had attained the age of 21 during the year were the honored guests of the entire community, and a great throng assembled to welcome them as new citizens, each receiving a certificate attesting his citizenship and each avowing his allegiance to his country, its flag and its constitution in a formal and impressive ceremony.

Throughout the year preceding this event these young people had earnestly pursued a course of study in preparation for active citizenship, it being the condition of their participation in the ceremony that they make themselves worthy of the honor.

HEARING of the event, Mr. William Randolph Hearst wrote:

"A patriotic idea worthy of emulation throughout the nation is that of Manitowoc County . . . The Wisconsin idea deserves to spread and be nation-wide, with annual citizenship ceremonies in every State."

There was instant interest in the suggestion, and active and efficient organization behind it.

Everywhere the citizenship programs were held they were of inspiration to the people and were eagerly participated in by young men and women.

And the foundations of permanent organization and annual repetition were laid.

That was the origin of "I Am an American" Day—a name expressing the patriotic emotion and faith which long years before had caused Daniel Webster, speaking at the dedication of Bunker Hill monument, to pay tribute to the American lives sacrificed on that historic spot and to exclaim:

"Thank God, I am an American!"

THIS FINE American observance came into being at a critical time.

There were evil forces at work in America, teaching American youth that the forms of American government were obsolete, that the history of America should be disparaged, that its ideals were of a pattern identified with a dead past.

"I Am an American" Day has been an essential offset to those evil forces.

It made American History an invaluable and indispensable part of the educational preparation of an American citizen.

It has been the means of making the American people "more impressed by and demonstrative of their heritage of freedom and their American principles and institutions," as Mr. Hearst earnestly hoped and confidently predicted in his early endorsement of the citizenship observance.

America has gained more than instruction in good citizenship and inspiration for better citizenship from "I Am an American" Day.

America has been made strong, in peace and in war, by an idea which encouraged the people to appreciate the meaning of American citizenship—an idea well worthy of a nation which has justice and freedom and peace as its supreme aspirations.

In each letter from over there he'd say
"Don't worry, Mother, I'm O.K."
Then into battle he went,
My son so dear to me.
There his heart was ever stilled
To make his country free.
Never again will I adoringly trace
The little smile wrinkles in his handsome face.
Or ruffle his straight black hair with a joyous twirl.
Or have him tell me I'm his "best girl."
But always, always I'll hear him say,
"Don't worry, mother, I'm O.K."

—THELMA WILLETT.

ABOVE is dedicated to Cpl. Robert R. Willett, HQ. Co., 334th Infantry, U. S. Army; killed in Belgium, Dec. 22, 1944 . . . The problem of how to get a husband to learn to dance or improve his dancing has baffled many wives. Our Mules & Men Department has been doing some research on this and is making progress. A young matron of San Francisco says she aroused her husband's interest in tripping the light fantastic by taking him to dancing school and giving him a view of some of the feminine dancing teachers. She then picked out a teacher for him; a beautiful, shapely and generally glamorous Latin American type. The husband's enthusiasm was immediately aroused. Now when he gets home at night he can hardly wait until he gets to dancing school. He is already adept at the rhumba, samba and tango. Twice a week he takes his wife out to dine and dance. His teacher is very proud of him.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: The inauguration of the $1 price for a haricut has revived the question: Should a bald-headed man get a special rate for a haircut? . . . Seems as if Mrs. Gladys Reiter, school teacher of Coppersburg, Pa., has established a record. She became the mother of triplets on Mother's Day. Ever hear of another mama hitting the blessed-event jackpot to that extent on the day?

TWINS: It has been claimed the records indicate husbands of Irish descent have the best chance to become the fathers of twins. May be something to it. Nearly every day I read of a fellow with an Irish name having a double feature blessed event. Recently noted Sgt. Tom Conroy of the U. S. Army became the father of twins and this gave him enough points to be eligible for immediate discharge from the Army. The sergeant should name those twins Franklin (after Roosevelt) and Dwight (after Eisenhower.

THIS DEPARTMENT is accused of continually reporting what the stargazers say about women but never about men. I have requested our Mules & Men Research Bureau to remedy this situation. According to our M. & M. experts the stargazers say Aries Men (March 21 to April 20) are easily deceived. An Aries man is a soft touch for a predatory blonde or brunette. Taurus (April 21 to May 20) men are noted for having "hunches" that turn out right. They are good pickers of longshots. As executives they have an uncanny ability for discovering talent. Gemini men (May 21 to June 20) have a hard time making up their minds. They can never decide which girl they really love. Even during the wedding ceremony a Gemini male is likely to say to himself: "I wonder if I really picked the right girl." Cancer men (June 21 to July 22) are home boys. They like to stick around the house. Usually they have an inferiority complex. They need a Leo or Capricorn wife to pep them up and give them a little confidence in themselves. ★ ★ ★

PLEASE NOTE: The most important month in anybody's life is that immediately following conception. So states a man of science who also claims the best time to have the first month of your life is in the spring. That is another one of those statements by experts which does not give me a break. Their statements practically never fit my case favorably. About the only break I have had so far is from the expert who said men with big feet make the best husbands.

Go ahead, JUMP! Am I asking you to do anything I haven't done?"

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, May 19—A few weeks ago the Senate passed a bill to raise the salary of the Capitol's chief telephone operator five bucks a week—and a couple of days later the lady upped and retired!

Furthermore, she got out of town before I could catch up with her. This was too bad because I found out the lady had an unusual distinction.

She was the first telephone operator the Capitol of the United States ever had!

★ ★ ★

THE RETIRED chief operator is Mrs. Harriet G. Daly.

Mrs. Daly became the Capitol's first telephone operator 47 years ago. When you think what a tremendous part the telephone plays there today it is difficult to realize that 47 years ago it didn't have a phone.

The Capitol has two switchboards now—with a total of 38 operators. Five are engaged solely as "information" operators. Both boards are located in the new House Office Building but they serve the Senate as well as the House.

And they handle an average of 45,000 calls a day!

★ ★ ★

I AM informed the salary boost granted Mrs. Daly had no connection with her decision to quit. It was not that she couldn't stand prosperity. She just decided it was time to retire.

Her place has been taken by Miss Nena Thomas, long the assistant chief operator. When asked how many years she has been on the job, Miss Thomas said:

"Will it be all right with your readers if I just say I have been on this switchboard more than 20 years?"

I assured her it would be perfectly all right; that my readers were very understanding particularly about ladies' ages.

"It sounds like we're an awfully old bunch of girls up here," continued Miss Thomas when I asked her the average length of service. "But actually we're not—we just started young!"

Miss Thomas said there is not much turnover; that when a girl gets a job on the Capitol switchboard she usually stays.

"They must like it," she commented.

★ ★ ★

THE SENATE BILL also provides raises for the other operators. Miss Thomas got boosted from $1800 to $2400 a year, plus an additional $200 a year for having been on the job so long and faithfully.

The average wage under the increase is $1860 a year. For this the Capitol switchboard ladies work nine hours a day, six days a week and every fourth Sunday. That's a lot of labor for less than $36 a week—particularly in these days of war prices.

The Capitol operators are not under Civil Service. And here's another strictly Capitol Hill gag: Although it takes the Senate to get them a raise, they are paid by the House disbursing office. Don't ask me to explain it.

★ ★ ★

BEING a Capitol operator requires a prodigious memory. They've got to carry so many bits of information in their heads. Miss Thomas estimates it takes a good two years before an operator reaches full efficiency.

"For instance," she said, "someone will call and ask for the Senate ways and means committee. Well—we know there's no such thing in the Senate; that's a House committee. So we get the caller straightened out before putting through the call."

The toughest part of the job, according to Miss Thomas, is to avoid confusion among Congressmen with similar names.

"We're up against a really tough one in the 79th Congress," she said. "We have two Representatives named J. J. Delaney. And they're both from New York."

★ ★ ★

THE JOHNSONS are the most troublesome, however. Should you ever call the Capitol and ask for "Congressman Johnson" you would really be posing a problem.

There are six Johnsons in the House—Anton, of Illinois; Jed, of Oklahoma; Leroy, of California; Noble, of Indiana, and Luther A. and Lyndon B., of Texas.

The Senate has two: Hiram, of California, and Olin D., of South Carolina.

★ ★ ★

ONE OF the sultriest-looking numbers to hit the Capital in a long while is Senora Isabel Escalante Kerpel, daughter of Dr. Don Diagenes Escalante, ambassador and envoy plenipotentiary from Venezuela.

The Latin lady has dark, soulful eyes, which she knows how to use on occasion. One of the occasions was last week.

The ambassador's gorgeous offspring drove through a red light. A very large and truculent cop whistled her down.

"Didn't you see the red light?" he demanded.

The lady gave him both eyes.

"No, officer," she murmured languidly. "How could I? I was looking at you!"

No ticket.

NEW YORK, May 19—Spencer Tracy is in Doctors' Hospital under another name . . . The story behind the shooting of Merry Fahrney's husband in Mexico would make front page headlines if the names involved were used . . . Mayo Methot and Victor Mature are a hot feud . . . Lillian Moore of La Martinique and Jackie Gleason of "Follow the Girls," once Broadway's warmest romance, have staged a chilly parting . . . Anne Baxter is in Gotham . . . Cinema experts claim that unless the Hollywood film strike is settled within a fortnight, the studios will have to shut down tight . . . Georgie Jessel's mother, who has been so ill, is slightly improved . . . Bonita Granville is swooning over Saul Goodman, an Indiana banker.

Bromfield's wedding gift to the duo was a couple of acres of farmland.

Boston After Dark

MITZI GREEN'S terrific success at the Mayfair was the signal for the New York night clubs to start bidding . . . Mitzi's agents, William Morris et al, are being courted by El Morocco, the Riohamba and the Copacabana—no less . . . Clever young Mitzi had just finished a Washington tour of hospitals and series of personal appearances for service units before coming to Boston . . . Like most fine artists with a Broadway background, Miss Green enjoys these contributions as much as the lads on the listening end . . . But she never anticipated so electric a thrill as the one she got when Gen. "Hap" Arnold, leader of the Army Air Forces, sent an aide with a request.

★ ★ ★

IT CAN'T POSSIBLY be a military secret, although the name of the number which Gen. Arnold requested does indicate that the brilliant airman has his lighter moments . . . The tune he requested was "The Lady Is a Tramp" . . . The General possibly knew that the number was one of the best things in Mitzi's repertory . . . It is possible also he likes it for its rhythm, melody and lyrics.

★ ★ ★

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: This column once made mention of a three-digit number, and the number, incredibly, came out that very day in the number pool . . . (You can imagine the traffic on the office telephone for the next few days) . . . Since then we have tried to steer clear of numerals in the hundreds or thousands . . . It is interesting to note (without being explicit) that the number of the first German U-boat to surrender popped out the very next day as the golden series of digits in the pool . . . The public did not plunge very heavily on it, it may be mentioned.

★ ★ ★

MIKE SACHS, the veteran burlesque comedian who has the longevity record for headliners in his field, will return to the stage (at the Old Howard) shortly . . . The Boston comedian has been out of action with serious eye trouble . . . Dick Sullivan, of the Latin Quarter's publicity staff, has renamed the Common bandstand by changing a letter to make it read "bondstand."

★ ★ ★

HERE'S A NEW WRINKLE in fund raising for political campaigns which—if it meets with the approval of Uncle Sam's revenooers—should make the Bay State Democrats a powerfully well-financed outfit when the next general elections roll around . . . the enterprising Jefferson Club, formed originally by backers and friends of Majority Leader John W. McCormack, has conceived the scheme and a committee headed by Ladie Newburgh, the leather man, with Mack Shapiro, the wool tycoon, and N. W. Rosin, the shoe manufacturer as aides, is already at work.

★ ★ ★

THE JEFFERSON CLUB publishes a semi-monthly newspaper called "The Jeffersonian Forum" . . . It is the job of Mr. Newburgh et al to solicit advertising for that publication . . . The rates must be fairly sizable, because Mr. Newburgh estimates that he and his staff will have a quarter of a million dollars in their bank accounts as the net profit of the sheet in the 18 months just ahead . . . It seems that business firms can charge off "advertising" when they make up their income taxes . . . Political contributions, on the other hand, are not deductible . . . The boys must be fairly sure of their ground, because Mr. Newburgh regards the new strategy as a good story, and wishes it used . . . We agree that it is interesting . . . But we did urge our opinion on the Boston leather merchant, to wit: Educating the Republicans in new tactics is not very smart, and calling Uncle Sam's attention to any sort of a device for lowering tax receipts might be unwise, too . . . However, he and his chums are very, very successful men . . . and what are we? . . . That's right!

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, May 19—Seems as though every time I run into George Raft he's at the dentist's. And that doesn't mean he's always having trouble with his molars. But he's a good friend of Dr. Lumsden and every time the Doc has an unusual dental operation, George gets permission to watch. Funny kind of a hobby, but then everybody to his own taste.

Geraldine Fitzgerald

Well, George is a boy who likes to do a lot of "operating" on movie scripts, too—for he has certainly said "no" to dozens of them lately. Now he's found a story he really likes. He's going to star in "Whistle Stop," the Maritta Wolfe prize-winning novel of 1940. It's plenty censorable, but Seymour Nebenzal, who will produce it for United Artists, is having Scripter Phil Yordan tone it down.

★ ★ ★

VERY AMUSING the way 20th went into their story files and found "The Shocking Miss Pilgrim," which had been there for years. I suspect they wouldn't even have been mildly interested if Celeste Holm didn't appear in "Bloomer Girl," which has gone over with such a bang. Now that Celeste is due at that studio on June 4 you might think she'd be the choice for "The Shocking Miss Pilgrim," but Jeanne Crain and Dick Haymes have been named for the leads. Haymes leaves for a three-month tour of southern hospitals before he starts the picture.

★ ★ ★

GERALDINE FITZGERALD tells me she is doing her best to get July transportation for herself, her nurse and her baby to London. Even though the European war is over, it is difficult to get priorities for babies to travel; there are so many people being sent to the occupied countries. Geraldine has several purposes in mind. She wants to confer with Arthur Rank about Daphne Du Maurier's "Hungry Hill," which he has asked her to do. Then her husband, Edward Lindsay-Gogg, is there with the American Red Cross. "I do hope I can get to London," Geraldine said, "because Denham, where I'll make my picture, is only six hours from Ireland and I could go home week-ends. I haven't been home since the war."

ONE BY ONE our boys are being inducted into the Army. Alan Ladd definitely goes in on Tuesday. Jack Carson, John Garfield, Eddie Bracken are a few more whose faces will be among the missing on the screen. Today I heard that Sgt. Gene Autry will be released from the Army Air Force soon. He's 36 and past the age for combat. I wonder, when Gene gets back, just what will go on with him and Republic. He's been battling the studio in court.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD AT RANDOM: I've heard everything! George Jessel and Lois Andrews, who are divorced, had dinner together at Ciro's because it was the anniversary of the date they first met; the Lt. David Hopkinses have welcomed their third daughter. He is the son of Harry Hopkins and she was formerly Cherry Preisser; Evelyn Keyes has been granted a divorce at Las Vegas from Director Charles Vidor and returns here immediately for a picture at Columbia; J. Edgar Hoover, Walter Winchell and Clyde Tolson chatting with Jerry Wald, gave him an idea for a juvenile delinquency film that he likes fine, so don't be surprised if it reaches the screen; the Sylvia Sidney-Fletcher Martin romance has chilled. In fact, it's no more; Susan Peters is a happy girl. She has gone home after months in a hospital

Tops In Sun-Apparel

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

FASHION WALKS along the beach . . . and the shadows she casts upon California sands pattern the costumes worn in the current race to the sun. While black jersey is the latest choice . . . seen everywhere from swim suits to spectator dress to evening gowns . . . the popular fabrics of past seasons combined with new colors and color-combinations . . . are much in evidence and in favor on the West Coast.

With summer beating a staccato knock upon fashion's crested door . . . California sun worshippers stealing a march on that first trip to the sea . . . have started the race for the very new and very smart bareback, sleeveless dresses . . . to be worn sunning in the patio . . . or on the resort terrace . . . and into the evening, when completed and covered by a matching jacket.

The new California patio dresses are unquestionably a solution to the American woman's day. Perfect for exposure to the tanning rays of the sun . . . they also eliminate the need to change for that Red Cross meeting and later to dinner. The bareback dress and jacket is cool, neat and practical . . . and is a two-piece collection of all the current fashion talk on uncluttered, smooth-line apparel. Even though California's affection for it is wholehearted and justified . . . most important, it is welcomed everywhere.

COLORFULLY DRAMATIC

California playclothes have always been considered the tops in sun-apparel . . . because they are colorfully dramatic, permit ample drenching under sunny skies . . . yet adhere to the true principles of clever design and artistic interpretation. And, much of the "splash" at the water's edge this summer will be caused by the galaxy of beach costumes adorning the sun worshippers . . . costumes with a California air and tag. For the costumes, in general, are a significant summation of the latest news from the designer's sketchbooks . . . and, having been tossed into California dye pots . . . are exciting "something" to behold.

Many of the topflight California designers responsible for the rapid rise and nationwide, hearty acceptance of their individual playclothes as the last word in sun beauty . . . will arrive in Boston tomorrow bringing with them . . . we hope . . . a little of the California sunshine along with their gorgeous sun-worshipping originals . . . to be utilized in a movie studio setting fashion show.

STARS' FAVORITES

Both "paring slim" shorts and billowy, blossoming skirts are popular extremes this year via the Golden Gate. Dorothy Lamour tops her black cotton twill British-Colonial shorts with a brilliant blue cholo coat . . . and wears black leather naked thong sandals. Joan Bennett's persimmon-colored, balloon-cloth sun ensemble is a snuggly fitted one-piece suit with rippling skirt and a wide turn-over collar that borders the low neckline.

Betty Hutton is set for gaiety this summer with a chang-turquoise shantung sun suit. Bareback top and narrow shorts are convertible to spectator fun when Betty fastens a full, unpressed pleated skirt about her waist.

Sunshine is universal . . . but sun-playing will be tuntime with California-designed sun-drenched and colorful playclothes.

Sunny Cal. Styles Come East

BLACK BRAID trims this Tabak-designed pedal pusher original with knee-length trousers. Lumberjacket top of the two-piece suit has cap sleeves and fullness . . . set on a waistband which ends in a Mayan trim tie. Columbia Star Janis Carter ties the black-edged unusual-headpiece underneath the back hair.

THIS PATIO cocktail and midriff ensemble, a Zukin original, is typically Californian. Yellow crepe is used for the floor length wrap-around skirt which forms a peplum at the waist . . . and is dramatically appliqued with a black giant fern leaf. A bolero jacket with long, graceful flowing Spanish sleeves is worn over a fetching little black bra and black shorts.

IF YOU'RE a conventional lounger, with a preference for the leg-covering type of garment, this interesting and stunning number, worn by Virginia Mayo, has the fascinating black and white combination . . . with black inserts down the sleeves.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Friday—I started out with Fala for his regular early morning walk in the woods today, and before we knew it the rain, which began to fall gently at first, had turned into a miniature deluge. Every day the puddles grow bigger on the roads, the streams are fuller, and what usually are little trickles of water are now rushing brooks with waterfalls here and there.

It is all very lovely; but if you are trying to put a place in order and get a garden planted, it certainly is rather difficult to find time in which to work.

I like the spring rain in the woods, but Fala and I decided, as we trudged along, that on the whole we had had almost enough during the past week and we could do with a little drying out in the sun.

* * *

BACK ON MARCH 14, my husband proclaimed Sunday, May 20, as "I Am An American" Day. In his words, it was to "honor those who have recently become members of our body politic, and at the same time reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of American citizenship."

He called upon federal, state and local officials, as well as patriotic and civic organizations, to hold exercises "designed to impress upon our citizens, both native-born and naturalized, the privileges of their new status in our democracy, and their responsibility for building this nation's security and advancing its welfare."

I hope that every year this celebration will take place in every community. It has always seemed to me that we make too little of our coming-of-age as civilians — both as regards our native-born young people who reach voting age, and our foreign-born new citizens.

* * *

NOW, ABOVE ALL TIMES in our history, we need citizens who know why they believe in a democracy.

They must realize that being a citizen in a democracy entails greater responsibility than any other type of citizenship anywhere else in the world, for in a democracy there is no way in which you can put upon any other individual the responsibility which you should carry yourself.

Cottage Cheese Recipes Help Planners of Menus

By MARTHA LEE

IN THE PRESENT meat shortage cheese is a food especially helpful in building up protein in family meals. Few homemakers appreciate the diversity of uses for cottage cheese in the daily menu.

An especially delicious way, and one which is not generally known, is in the form of croquettes.

COTTAGE CHEESE CROQUETTES

2 cups cottage cheese (drained)
2 cups mashed potatoes
2 eggs Fat for deep frying
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg, well beaten

Combine cottage cheese, mashed potatoes, eggs and seasonings. Form into carrot shaped croquettes—roll in dry crumbs, then in beaten egg and again in bread crumbs. Fry until golden brown in deep fat (375 deg. F.). Garnish the croquettes with parsley tops and serve with hot tomato puree. Makes 6 servings.

COTTAGE CHEESE DUMPLINGS WITH SPINACH

3 tbsp. butter or margarine
4 egg yolks ½ cup flour
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup dry bread crumbs
4 egg whites, beaten stiff
1 tsp. salt

Cream butter or margarine, add egg yolks, one by one, stirring to make a creamy mixture. Add salt, cottage cheese (pressed through a sieve or strainer), flour, bread crumbs, and mix well. Fold in egg whites. Form medium sized dumplings and drop into rapidly boiling salted water. Cover tightly and let boil for 10 minutes. Remove with strainer or slotted spoon. Place hot chopped cooked spinach on serving platter—surround with the dumplings and serve with a cream sauce. Garnish with strips of pimiento and paprika. Make 8 servings.

COTTAGE CHEESE OMELET

4 eggs, separated
½ to 1 cup cottage cheese
2 tbsp. finely chopped pimiento
½ tsp. salt Dash of pepper
¼ cup milk Parsley
1 tbsp. butter or margarine

Beat egg yolks until thick and light; add cottage cheese and chopped pimiento; add seasonings and milk; fold into stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into buttered, hot 9-inch frying or omelet pan and cook over low heat for 3 to 5 minutes, or until omelet puffs up and is browned on bottom. (Test by raising edge of omelet with spatula.) Place in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 10 to 15 minutes, or until top springs back when pressed with finger. Cut about 1-inch incisions at opposite sides and crease down through center in line with cuts; then fold carefully on crease by slipping spatula under half of omelet to fold over. Slip onto hot platter and garnish with parsley; if an omelet pan is used, merely fold over; omelet will shrink slightly when removed from pan. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

RAISIN COTTAGE CHEESE

1 cup seedless raisins
2 cups cream type cottage cheese
½ cup sugar ½ tsp. salt
1 cup sweet table cream
1 tsp. lemon extract
3 eggs Nutmeg
Pastry for single 9-inch crust

Rinse raisins, drain, and slice very fine. Put cheese through a sieve or ricer to remove lumps. Combine with sugar, cream, salt, flavoring, and well beaten eggs, blending thoroughly. Add raisins and mix lightly. Pour into pastry-lined deep type 9-inch pie pan and sprinkle top with spice. Bake in a hot oven (475 deg. F.) for 10 minutes; lower temperature to moderate (350 deg. F.) and continue baking about 30 minutes or until custard is set. Do not let custard boil. Makes 6 servings.

In Praise of Our N. E. 'Roughneck' Soldiery

By AUSTEN LAKE

Austen Lake

WELL, COARSEN MY COMPLEXION! The diamond sunburst for crass supercility goes to an adjoining journal (Herald editorial page, May 17) for printing a vox pop letter villifying New England soldiery as "roughnecks." Read this and watch your blood pressure bubble! Some narrow-backed dilettante initialed "S. W." writes, "I am shocked by a letter from a young Boston relative, who says, "Our outfit is composed of chaps from every part of the country, most of them fine fellows, but I am ashamed of most of the boys who hail from New England cities. To a great extent they are roughnecks and I dislike being obliged to admit I come from that section."

Well, let me call you sweetheart! Any editor who would spare rationed newsprint to voice such thin-souled garbage should examine his cerebral cavity for prune-pits. Sure! Folk suffering from mental dysentery are always writing such corruption to editors every day. Honest conviction, however contrary, is one thing! But mouse-hearted offal is another! I can't let that one fester!

I have met thousands of New England soldiers—yeh, personally, in the combat theaters of England and the European continent. As scale models of American manhood they measure to the full-fashioned standard of soldier decency and idealism. Admittedly, whether New England or otherwise, no soldier relishes the life he was obliged to lead, amid sordid filth and bestiality contrary to his home teaching. But they took it with a philosophic acceptance of the inevitable and I say with simple reverence, "I am proud of the solid core of New England youth." "Make that "all American youth!"

ROUGHNECKS? SURE THEY'RE ROUGHNECKS—the most magnificent, tough-spirited, hell-for-leather roughnecks that ever chased a chill up a Kraut's spine or burned a town around Schutzstaffle ears. Let me list a few of the glorious, hard-handed roughnecks I knew. Col. Creighton Abrams of Agawam for one. I never met a rougher, more tempestuous, boisterous bozo—bless his shaggy, hirsute heart! Or Capt. Adrien Tessier of Providence. There was a guy who chewed iron fillings for lunch and spit sparks. His neck was so rought you could scratch matches on it. But there was never so gallant or generous a gentleman above God's green sod—I've seen him weep (yeh, real salt tears!) over the body of a buck buddy or go out slithering on his belly where hardware hummed like hornets to pick up some wounded man. Ole Tess had a vocabulary that stung like the smack of a wet fish and a heart that dripped sympathy like a pyrex percolator. Yet you, you silly little letter-writing squirt, prate about roughnecks. You couldn't know how corrugated a spine can be till you saw some one of these splendid, lustrous, rude fellows who rammed German brutality down the throats of the copyright owners.

And those superb roughnecks of the YD, as I saw them fighting through the topsy-turvy wilderness of the Saar, where by comparison the famous Argonne Forest of the last war was like a scuffle in the Arnold Aboretum. Yeh, thank the Supreme Power for such "vulgarians" as Cpl. Sebastian Canova of Southie, and PFC Harold Merserve of Abington and PFC Francis McElaney of Charlestown and Top-Sgt. Tom Brooks of Dorchester, to mention only a few of our "hoodlums." They fought through an upside-down world of huge geographical wrinkles, steep drops, and dizzy heights, with roads that were narrow goat-tracks and covered with thick pine forests like the scruff of a buffalo's back. They worked in a country freckled with land mines and cunningly concealed pillboxes, where frowsy Germans potted them like hunters from a duck blind. So you, young relative of S. W., are "ashamed to admit you come from their section." Fall down on your delicate knee-kuckles and praise Providence for giving you accidental birth into such red-blooded society. Some of these magnificent roughnecks died that mewling brats like you could go on writing meows to doting aunties.

YEH, THE GERMANS THOUGHT OUR GUYS were rough, too. There was an article in a Swiss paper last month which said what S. W.'s young relative says, to wit and viz.: "American soldiers have made a bad impression on Germany. Their harsh severity, uncouth incivilities and gruff treatment have disillusioned the German populations under their rule."

A gust of Homeric glee swept the combat lines! Nothing—no typographical bouquet, no sweetly phrased citation ever pleased them more. For that was EXACTLY the impression they sought, to stuff ruination, havoc and chaos down the gullets of a nation which deemed mass murder, slavery and plunder an honored vocation through the centuries.

Let me glorify a few more of our New England roughnecks—God love 'em! Like that day I was walking through the Kaiser Wilhelm Ring at Coblenz, which in prewar times used to be like the shop side of lower Boylston st. "Walk" was hardly the word! For Heinie snipers were still picking off unwary stragglers from their hideous ruins and our doughboys were deploying gingerly over the rubble, eyes on rooftops and windows. It was like hunting lethal spooks in a ghost town. One of the splendid roughnecks in that patrol was Pvt. John Leoncello of Hyde Park. Another was 2 Lt. John H. Nolan of Portland, Me. And another Pvt. Tom Keith of Manchester, N. H. Nothing of the parlor smoothie in them! Their chins and cheeks were just as rough with seven days' beard as their hair was ragged on their necks! But inside their skins they were the cream of New England gentility.

Some day, God grant that it come soon, this distinguished company of N. E. roughnecks is coming home. They will come as hard, competent and conditioned youth in the full flower of manhood. And these men who have lain in the steaming jungle of Asia, or fought on the flaming decks, or endured the thousand hardships of war will be intolerant of such pusilanimous nincompoops as S. W. and his or her letter-author. That will be the dawn of THEIR era—the return of our magnificent roughnecks! May their spines never become slick!

29 Men Face Amazing Ferriss In His 4th Win

By HUCK FINNEGAN

CHICAGO, May 19—It seems as if every other story a Red Sox correspondent writes these May days is about Dave Ferriss; but how are you going to get away from a kid who has pitched and won four games, three of them via the shutout route? In his latest shutout, Friday's 2-0 win over the White Sox, he didn't allow an alien to reach third base and only one reached second.

He gave only four hits and one walk. Only 29 men faced him, three being erased immediately on double plays.

Bob Garbark

You've got to keep writing about him because he actually looks like the best thing to enter the league since Bobby Feller. Perhaps he'll make you go back to Walter Johnson.

"He's better than either Grove or Hughson," Red Sox veterans will tell you.

Know what they want Cronin to do now? send Ferriss back Sunday against the White Sox and have him pitch left-handed. He's ambidextrous you know. They're confident they can win behind the youngster if he drop-kicks them to the plate.

4 PITCHES RETIRES SIDE

"He could go back Sunday and pitch right-handed, for that matter," said Catcher Bob Garbark. "This was his easiest game by far. One inning he retired the side on four pitches. His control was perfect for the first time, and he hit my glove repeatedly, whether I held it inside or outside the plate. In Phila he was wild.

"He's learning how to pace himself," Garbark continued. "He didn't seem quite so fast to me. Perhaps he took something off his fast one for the sake of control. Or perhaps it was because I had two sponges in my glove. I was sick of having my hand puffed up after each game. At any rate the test of a great pitcher is getting the hitter with men on bases. Ferriss does that every time.

"It seems to me he really bore down on only one hitter. That was Curtright in the seventh and ninth. (Curtright walked in the first, bloop singled in the fourth). He really put something on the ball then. Nagel was the only batter whose single was legitimate. The other three were handle hits."

Said Ferriss, "This was funny. I thought Cece (Cecil) was going to pitch, didn't know I was going until the club house meeting. I was wild warming up, hadn't thrown a ball since Monday. Yet in the game I could put the ball just where I wanted to."

That was down around their knees. He had the White Sox hitting into the dirt all afternoon. Cuccinello didn't get the ball out of the infield. The outfield made only two putouts.

SOX CRAZY ABOUT HIM

The Sox infield contributed its best afternoon of the campaign. Steiner, who had been weak pivoting on double plays, was key man on two that would do credit to Doerr. "He's my roomie," smiled Steiner. Newsome pivoted on a third, and Tobin came through with a sparkling stop on Michaels in the eighth after Schalk singled.

"An infielder can go two steps farther to right or left behind a pitcher like Ferriss," commented Newsome. "He's always ahead of the hitter and keeps you on your toes."

"It's easy to win when you have a Johnson in the lineup," said Ferriss.

The Sox always win when Johnson hits, and Johnson hits for Ferriss. His eighth inning double against Haynes drove in both Ferriss who singled, and Newsome. Previously he had hit homers for Ferriss against Yanks and Detroit.

The Sox are crazy about the gentlemanly young Air Corps veteran, whose theme song is "this is a picnic. No sergeant dragging you out of bed at 5 a. m."

You should see Cronin hobble out of the dugout on broken leg to shake his hand after every game. Ever hear of him doing that before?

GIANTS SEEK SUNDAY GAME

The Boston Colored Giants would like to fill an open baseball date tomorrow afternoon at the Carter Playground, Roxbury. Managers may contact Arthur Johnson, Kenmore 9743 between 8-9.

Kelley Faces Rugged Going

By MIKE GILLOOLY

John Adelbert Kelley will have just about as potent a field to down tomorrow afternoon in the 20-mile North Medford Club grind as he faced in his recent stellar triumph in the 210-furlong dash from Hopkinton to Boston on Patriot's Day in the BAA marathon.

With few exceptions such as Lloyd Bairstow, U. S. Navy (second place man), Lloyd Evans, Montreal (fifth) and Johnnie Semple, U. S. Navy (ninth), the Medford shuffle will carry nearly as much top-weight punch as the BAA feature.

The prospect doesn't bother the West Acton plodder in the least bit now that he has shaken his "bridesmaid" jinx but it wouldn't be at all surprising if the smiling, local favorite had to be content, once again, with the place prize. For one thing, Canada's Bob "Scotty" Rankine will be in much better condition than when he started in the April 19 highway hilarity.

No doubt, Kelley, living in the glory of his comeback, doesn't bother to worry any more. He fully realizes the type of opposition that he'll be facing in Don Heinicke (third in the BAA); Charlie Robbins (sixth); Louis Young (seventh); Tony Mederios (eighth) and Ab Morton (tenth).

There'll be plenty of other threats in the field of 40 which will be on the mark at the Roberts Junior High School at 2 p. m.

Dave Ferriss Is Pitching Sensation for Red Sox

By JACK CONWAY

DAVE FERRISS has become the pitching sensation of the American League. The Red Sox youngster proved beyond question he possesses real flinging class when he shut out the Chicago White Sox by a score of 2 to 0 in the first game of the series in the Windy City. Ferriss turned the White Sox back with only four hits.

As in his former mound appearances, Ferriss also showed top batting ability. It was his single that opened the Sox victory rally. He went to second when Newsome bunted, and scored on Bob Johnson's smashing double. Johnson has always been the handy batter who has been around to move Ferriss across the plate when he has got on base.

Dave Ferriss

Ferriss has exceptional poise for a young pitcher. He is the calmest person on the ball field during a game. He does his most effective work under pressure.

Ferriss returned to baseball from the Army Air Corps from which he received a medical discharge. Thousands of service men had an opportunity to see Ferriss pitch when he was at Randolph Field, Tex. He is a great favorite with the men of our fighting forces, and home coming veterans, as will as those stationed in the United States, will be eager to see him in action.

Ferriss will give the Red Sox strength both on the defense and in their attack. In this respect he will be much like Babe Ruth was when the latter was with the Sox. Ruth was a pitcher, and later played first base and in the outfield. A ball club with a hitting pitcher like Ferriss will win many close ball games.

When Tex Hughson, Johnson, Harriss and some of the other Sox flingers, now in the armed forces, return to the Sox there will be few pitching worries for Joe Cronin.

Joe Haynes, the White Sox pitcher who was beaten by Ferriss, like Joe Cronin, is a son-in-law of Clark Griffith. Cronin didn't do Haynes any favor when he sent Ferriss against him.

Chandler's Weak Answer

HIGH COMMISSIONER Happy Chandler made what this writer considered a weak answer when he was asked what he was going to do about Larry MacPhail, who attended the races at Pimlico with his bride. Chandler tried to sidestep the question by saying that MacPhail is an executive and that his order only applied to ball players.

Of course MacPhail was only having some innocent fun when he took in the races. Larry says he is only a $2 better, but even if he had placed $100 on each race he could have afforded to have made the wagers. If MacPhail and his bride like to spend an afternoon at the races, that is their personal business.

Ball players and umpires should have the same right so long as they do not make a business of betting. I do not believe it would jeopardize the future of baseball if a ball player, many of whom get salaries of $7500 to $15,000 a year, were to bet a few bobs on each race. I do not believe Happy Chandler should have any fear of the average ball player wagering large sums on races. I have traveled a great deal in the company of ball players, and few of them would risk more than $2 on the result of a horse race.

Babe Ruth liked to make a substantial bet on a horse race when he was earning $80,000 a year with the Yanks, but he still managed to knock out enough home runs to make the public forget about the "Black Sox" scandal.

Woods Relieves Jim Wilson

By HERB FINNEGAN

CHICAGO, May 19—Jim Wilson, whose Red Sox mates have got him one run in 18 innings, was Joe Cronin's choice to make it two straight over the White Sox today.

Wilson's last two pitching efforts have been five hitters, yet he lost to both Cleveland and Detroit because the Sox didn't hit behind him. Before that he blanked Washington 4-0 on a five hitter.

The White Sox clinging to first place by a matter of percentage points, elected ohnny Humphries to stop the Boston Sox.

FIRST INNING

RED SOX—Newsome fouled to Tresk. Steiner singled. Metkovich forced Steiner, Nagel to Michaels. Johnson forced Metkovich, Cucciniello to Schalk. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Curtright singled. And was out stealing, Walters to Newsome. Hockett singled. Dickshot singled, Hockett stopping at second. Nagel fouled to Walters. Cuccinello doubled, seoring Hockett. Schalk doubled, scoring Dickshot and Cuccinello. Tobin threw out Michaels. THREE RUNS.

SECOND INNING

RED SOX—Fox flied to Hockett. Tobin popped to Schalk. Michaels threw out McBride. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Tresh beat out bunt and took second when Tobin threw wild to first. Humphries walked. Curtright hit into a double play, Newsome to Steiner to Metkovich. Hockett walked. Woods replaced Wilson on the mound for the Red Sox. Hockett stole second. Woods tossed out Dickshot. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

RED SOX—Walters was called out on strikes. Michaels threw out Woods. Newsome popped to Michaels. NO RUNS.

WHITE SOX—Steiner tossed out Nagel. Cuccinello grounded out to Metkovitch. Schalk singled. Schalk was caught off first and was out Woods to Steiner to Metkovitch to Newsome to Metkovitch. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

RED SOX—Steiner bounced to Schalk and was safe when Schalk made a bad throw to first. Metkovich flied to Dickshot. Johnson flied to Rockett. Fox singled. Steiner went to third. Tobin singled, Steiner scoring. McBride flied to Rockett. ONE RUN.

WHITE SOX — Michaels went out, Steiner to Metkovich. Tresh was called out on strikes. Humphries fanned. NO RUNS.

Yanking 10 Teeth May Help Al Javery

By BILL GRIMES

Rain and cold weather forced Pitcher Al Javery to cancel the appointment he had at Braves Field this afternoon with the Cincinnati Reds but the continued odd climate in no way affected his date with the dentist.

Javery was to contribute five teeth to the ivory collection and he'll make a similar donation either tomorrow or Monday.

While pitching batting practice a week ago, Javery stopped a ball off Mike Ulisney's bat with his jaw. The accident was thought to be a routine harmless affair but a couple of days ago, Javery started to complain about his teeth and was advised to see his dentist. The X-rays showed that "Jave" has 10 abscessed teeth, from which pus was draining into his system.

Javery's arm hasn't been right for a couple of years. It was believed that the lanky Worcesterite had ruined his salary whip bowling. He's one of the best bowlers in New England and during the off season he spends much of his time rifling balls down bowling alleys.

However, after seeing the X-ray pictures of Javery's teeth, General Manager John J. Quinn is of the opinion that the ailment resulted from pus poisoning. And, it looks as though the "G.M." has placed his finger on the trouble.

So it may be that Mike Ulisney's "beaning" was a blessing in disguise. One thing is certain. It would be impossible for abscesses to develop on 10 teeth since Javery was conked. Time will tell. However, Manager Coleman has instructed Javery to remain at home for a few days after he has his teeth extracted. Javery will not join the Braves until next Thursday or Friday.

Manager Mill McKechnie had nominated Bill "Bucky" Walters to hurl for the Reds this afternoon. "Bucky" hasn't been himself on the mound, or off for that matter, this spring. For the first time in his career, Walters has a sore arm. He went overseas last winter on a USO tour and was stricken with the same ailment that hospitalized Frank Frisch, manager of the Pirates. He has been in six games but hasn't been able to come up with a win and has been charged with four defeats.

Walters topped all National League hurlers last season when he chalked up 23 wins against 8 defeats. Manager McKechnie predicts that Walters will soon round into winning form and figures that if Eddie Miller gets into the lineup, the Reds will begin to climb.
